RAILWAYS TO ENTER WORLD'S FAIR SITE.

Director of Works Orders Track age Connections Made With Missorri Pacific and Frisco.

WABASH HAS SAME RIGHTS.

Action Follows Meeting of Committee on Transportation-Liberal Arts Building Contract to Be Let.

Rivalry between the great railway corporations over World's Fair terminals was practically ended yesterday by the order of Director of Works Taylor to immediately connect the trackage on the Exposition site with the present terminals of the Missouri Pacific and Frisco roads, at the southern limits of the Fair grounds.

This action followed an important meeting of the Committee on Transportation at the city headquarters of the Exposition Company. Plans for the Wabash to make entry to the site are understood to have entry to the site are understood to have been laid at the meeting. The Transporta-tion Con nittee includes in its membership the presidents and general managers of most of the lines which have extended their tracks to the World's Fair site.

"Most of the heavy steel structure, stone and other material to be used in the conand other material to be used in the construction of the permanent fireproof Art Palace will be brought into the site over the Misseuri Pacific or the Frisco," said Director Taylor. "These roads will enter the site on a level with the wooded plateau where the Art Palace will have its foundations. I have given orders to begin, at once, the extension of the Exposition tracks from the levels of the main buildings, seventy feet below the pinteau, up a long guich to the top of the plateau. They will be carried across this tract to the Missouri Pacific and Frisco tracks."

Tracks Have Been Built.

The tracks of these roads have been built from the main lines in the Cheitenham Valley, a mile from the wooded plateau of the Fair site. It was necessary to carry the tracks on long trestes nearly 5,000 feet to a deep cut, which the engineers made near the Exposition grounds. The tracks emerge from this cut to enter the site. After the construction period of the Fair, both roads will build large depots just outside of the Exposition fence.

the construction period of the Fair, both roads will build large depots just outside of the Exposition lence. In the event that the Exposition company wins its suit for the candemnation of the Catlin tract, it is predicted that an arrangement will be made with the Wabash to relinquish its terminal holdings in the tract, together with the right-of-way across the tract from De Balivere avenue to Skinker road. The Exposition company has other plans which it is deemed will satisfy the Wabash management. The entry of the Missouri Pacific and the Frisco to the site is equivalent to a similar arrangement with the Wabash whereby that road will have the same advantages that have accrued to the Colorado line for several months past to the exclusion of all other roads.

The end of the rallway controversy assures rapid construction work. As an evidence of this, Director Taylor will advertise for bids on the Liberal Arts Building before the end of this week. He will allow one week for contractors to figure on the structure. Under this plan the letting will be made by Saturday, May 21. The Liberal Arts will be the most easterly of the structure are sufficiently before the end of the saturday. The Liberal Arts will be the most easterly of the structure of the ing Exposition picture. The building is a parallelogram, 750 feet on one side and 525 feet on the other. It is larger than the twin building hitherto let, the Textiles and Electricity basases. The amount allowed for the construction by the Director of Works is $400.00.

Director Taylor expects to award the Art Paince after the Liberai Arts has been let. This structure, a permanent, fire-proof building, will cost $1,000.000. It will crown the summit of the hill upon whose aprox will be hung the cascade gardens. Complete drawings of the buildings have been received from Cass Gilbert of New York. The building will be partly obscured by the Festival Hall and the pagoda cafes.

The necessity for making a part of the building fire proof war impressed upon the Exposition authorities as without this precaution it would be difficult to obtain the priceless exhibits which will be sought. President Francis estimated that the proposed structure would cost about $200,000. A meeting of the entire subcommittee of the Executive Committee will take place this morning at 10 o'clock in the Administration building, when the plan will be further considered.

Subject to approval by Mayor Wells, Health Commissioner Starkloff yesterday appointed Frank X. Mulhall of No. 317 North Jefferson avenue as meat inspector. Doctor Starkloff will make another appointment within several days from the numerous applications which he has on file.

Assistant Health Commissioner Francis intends to investigate all unsanitary dairies in the city. He has received many complaints about stables in the central district. "In many of the small stables," he sold, "the cows are so crowded that they are obliged to take turns in lying down to rest. I received one complaint to-day about a stable on South Second street. Twenty-six cows are housed in a shed 50x20 feet. I'll see what I can do with these places."

Confidence men yesterday, victimized Louis Slin, a shoemaker at No. 221 Market | provements went to the Chain of Rocks street, out of $370 and jewelry valued at $5.0. An old game was worked on Slin. One of the men engaged in conversation with their victim, while the other relieved the box of its contents and sustituted paper and stones.

The money was in gold and bills. The jeweiry consisted of a pair of diamond ear-rings, valued at $200, a man's gold watch, Swiss movement, valued at $100, a ladles' gold watch and chain, valued at $10 a ladles' ring with twenty-three small diamonds, valued at $100 and two gold rings. When near the corner of Eighth and Wa'h streethe met a man, who, he says, visited him at his shoe shop and who claimed to be a stranger in the city. The stranger was accompanied by a friend. They greeted Siin in a cordial manner and invited nim to take a drink. He accepted the invitation and Siin says they entered a saloon at Seventh and Wash street. Slin was carrying the money and jewelry in a box which was wrapped in a nandkerenief.

On entering the saloon, the men went to a rear room and sat down at a table. One of the men asked Slin what was in the box and he told them. They then asked to be shown the diamonds and Slin says he unwrapped the tox and allowed them to look at the contents. While one of the men engaged in conversation with Slin as to the value of the diamonds, the other man put the money and jeweiry in his pocket and placed wads of paper, stones and washers in the box. He wrapped the handkerchief about the box and handed it back to Slin. The men then left Slin in the saloon.

Slin walked to the Missouri Safe Deposit Company's office and the first intimation he bad that he had been swindled was when he opened the box before placing it in a safety vault and discovered that the money and jewelry were gone. Slin at once notified the police and gave them a descrip-

DISPUTE OVER A STREET. Opening of Clark Avenue Disturbs Residents of Ferguson.

The proposed opening of Clark avenue The proposed opening of Clark avenue through to Payne avenue in Ferguson, bi-secting the home of Charles Bangert, has caused a controversy to spring up in that town and a number of petitions both for and against the proposition have been filed with the Board of Aldermen in the last two weeks.

The ordinance for the opening of the street was passed a year ago, but Bangert established a patrol and kept the Town Commissioners off his property. At the time the Wabash Railroad Company was also claiming a part of his property and carried its contention into court, when Bangert also established a patrol against its surveyors. The Mayor and Board of Aldermen concluded to await the outcome of the legal proceedings before taking any further action. The Wabash was successful in the Clayton Circuit Court and then the town officials started to proceed with the opening of the street.

FERGUSON IN A QUANDARY. Town Attorney Will Not Quality for $25 a Year.

How to get a city attorney to attend to the legal wants of the town of Ferguson for a salary of $25 a year is a problem that is bothering the Mayor and Aldermen of that municipality. Two of the attorneys in the town, James A. Hereford and Walter Mc-Fntire, refused to qualify for it and it was necessary to appoint a third man, who has not yet qualified.

Mr. McEntire succeeded Mr. Hereford about one year ago. The ordinance required him to qualify by filling a 2200 bond. The bond must be sened by property owners in Ferguson. Mr. McEntire was a stranger in the town and consequently made no attempt to file a bond. Recently attention was called to the omission and Mr. McEntire was asked to remedy it. He was busy and did not think it worth while for $25 a year to stop to file a bond. As a result Kimbrough Stone, the son of former Governor Stone, was appointed to succeed him.

THIEF JUMPED FROM PORCH. INJUNCTION GRANTED AT 2 A. M.

School and Met the Burglar Descending Staircase-Other Burglaries.

Armed with a baseball bat Eddie Heltzewhom he encountered in his father's home, truder to jump from a second-story porch in an effort to escape.

The lad had just returned from school and upon entering the house met a stranger descending the stairway in the front hall. As soon as the burglar caught sight of the boy he turned and ran back to the second floor. Eddle, without any show of fear, seized a bat, which was standing in a corner of the hall, and started in pursuit of the instruder. He ascended the steps and ner of the hall, and started in pursuit of the instruder. He ascended the steps and reached the upper landing in time to see the negro raise a rear window and leap from a porch twenty feet high. Eddie ran to the window, but before he reached it the burglar had scaled the back yard fence and was running through the aliey.

Disappointed because he had falled to land his man, the youngster went to the Fair Grounds police station and there reported his experience.

Members of the Heitzeberg family were absent when the burglar entered the house. It is supposed that he used a skeleton key, as there were no traces of his having forced an entrance, and Mrs. Heitzeberg is positive that she locked all the doors upon leaving the house.

From the appearance of the various rooms, the intruder must have been in all of them. Dresser drawers were open and their contents scattered about the floor. In the dining-room the sideboard drawers were open, though their contents were not disturbed, and the pantry was in confusion. Fortunately the burglar did not have time to take anything, for the unexpected appearance of young Heitzeberg prevented him from carrying anything away.

The police examined the premises of the Heitzeberg home after the attempted burglary had been reported, but they were unable to obtain a clew as to the identity of the thief. an executive session, to report Mr. Flad's bill adversely to the board, and yesterday's inspection did not alter this conclusion. Another project which Mr. Flad has in view is the construction of a storage reservoir at Baden, to cost about $15,000, and indications are that an appropriation for this purpose will be promptly approved by the committee and the board. Plans have also been drawn for a machine shop and several other buildings that are proposed for the new pipe storage yard on Eager road. The buildings, to cost about $6,000, would be used by the street-service division.

Property owners in the Stoddard addition, otherwise known as the Garrison ridge, complain that they cannot draw water from hydrants above the first floor. B. C. Atkins, chief engineer of the distribution division, states that this is due to low water in one of the basins of Compton Hill Reservoir. The basin is being cleaned, and pressure in the pipes in Stoddard addition, as well as in other clevated districts may be subnormal for about ten days.

Thieves entered the tailor shop of Charles Shonkmeyer, on the second floor of No. 517 Pine street, and stole clothing valued at $50. The rooms were entered by means of duplicate keys.

Two old citizens of St. Louis County, who had been friends and neighbors for years, have died within the last three days. The first to die was Henry Bates of Centaur. He passed away Monday and was buried Tuesday. The second was Philander P. Lowis. Mr. Lewis died early yesterday morning after a brief illness. He will be buried to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock from the Lewis Memorial Church to the Crescent Cemetery.

Mr. Bates was 56 years old and had lived in the county for over half a century. His wife died twenty years ago. He leaves two sons, both old men, and a number of grand-children and great grandchildren.

Mr. Lewis was born October 3, 1825, near the place where he died. He is said to have been the oldest native citizen of the county. He always resided there, and amassed a comfortable fortune on his farm. He was a brother to Matrom D. Lewis, former flecorder of Deede in St. Louis and

NEWS OF THE CITY CHURCHES. Services in Memory of Mrs. Sarah

Woodworkers connected with the Amalgamated Association had another meeting iast night at their hall on Tenth street and Franklin avenue, to learn the status negotiations between their representative and the cab'netmakers, their employers, on a demand for higher wages.

It was decided that the men would remain at work until another conference had been held between their representatives and those of the cabinetmakers, who are the employers. Between 400 and 500 workingmen are interested in the outcome of the negotiations. The bosses have offered what many considered a satisfactory compromise, and the meeting was called to give all members a chance to express their opinions. The owners of the big woodworking plants have pointed out that if they pay much more in wages they will not be able to compete with cheaper outside goods. The men maintain that the cost of meats, of rents and other commodities is higher, and they need more pay to meet the increase. O'Brien. O'Brien.

An interesting programme has been prepared for the special services to be held at Hope Congregational Church this afternoon at 3:30 in memory of Mrs. Sarah O'Brien, mother of the Reverend James P. O'Brien, former pastor of the church, who is now superintendent in Missouri and Arkansas for the Congressional Sunday-school and Publishing Society. It is expected that the attendance will be large. There will be special music and addresses by those Mrs. O'Brien had helped in life. Mrs. O'Brien's life work was that of a home missionary, and in recognition of this fact it has been decided to raise money for a missionary library in her memory.

The ladies of Taylor Avenue Baptist Church have collected an assortment of handkerchiefs for their bazar to be held at Mermod & Jaccard's store to-morrow and Saturday. Some are from Cuba, Mexico and other foreign countries.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Eden Evan-gelical Church will give a social in the base-ment of the church, Hamilton and Bartmer avenues, this afternoon and evening. Re-freshments will be served. The Epworth League of the First M. E. Church will give a birthday social at the residence of Miss Grimm, No. 1345 North Garrison avenue, this evening.

The Congregational Church of the Redeemer will give a music and literary entertainment this evening. The Unity Male Quartet, composed of Professor G. P. Knox and Messra. Fitch, Rose and Leake, will sing. Miss Edith Hardy will render a piano solo and Miss Laura Krenning will rec'te several numbers. Miss Louise Relier will render a violin solo.

ALL-NIGHT BATTLE FOR WIGGINS STOCK

pany's Dash to Head Off the Bowen Shares.

Lad Had Just Returned From Stock Thought to Have Been Shipped From Cincinnati-Express Company and Commonwealth Trust Enjoined.

Two carriages containing Sheriffs and berg, 14 years old, chased a negro burglar, Trust company officials, driven over the city at top speed, and a Circuit Judge No. 3229 Harper street, and forced the in- 'awakened at 2 a. m., were incidents of the fight for control of Wiggins Ferry stock yesterday morning. The strenuous proceed-ings were to head off 122 shares of Wiggins stock which the Mississippi Valley Trust Company believed were about to be delivered to the Mercantile. The contested shares belonged to Mrs. Mary J. Bowen, who is said to be in Cin-cinnati. Several days ago the Misissippi Cinnati. Several days ago the Misissippi Valley Trust claimed to have purchased the stock from Mrs. Bowen's agent, they also alleged that she had declined to deliver them according to contract, and was endeavoring to dispose of them to the Mercantile Trust.

Late Tuesday confidential agents of the Mississippi Valley in Cincinnati are sup-posed to have notified the company that the certificates had been shipped to St. Louis through the United States Express Company, consigned to Mrs. Eleanore Clubb, in care of the Commonwealth Trust Company.

Clubb, in care of the Commonwealth Trust Company.

Upon receiving the information about midnight, Breckinridge Jones, vice president of the Mississippl Valley Trust, sent carriages for his attorneys, Boyle, Priest and Lehmann, and aroused the watchman at the Lacicde building, where the attorneys drew a supplementary petition for an injunction. Meantime Mr. Jones in a cab made a round of the clubs and hotels in search of a Judge of the Circuit Court and court officials. He first encountered E. S. Jeffrey, Chief Deputy in the Circuit Clerk's office.

At 12:30 the petition for injunction was ready and the quest of a Judge of the court began. The carriages containing Mr. Jeffrey and Hugh R. Lyie, assistant secretary of the Mississippi Valley Trust, and the attorneys, first went to Mr. Jeffrey's house, No. 424 Cook avenuc, to notify his family that he would probably be out for some time. Then they proceeded to the home of Judge Seiden P. Spencer, No. 457 Washington boulevard. It was then nearly 2 o'clock. Repeated ringing of the door bell aroused Judge Spencer, who, after hearing the nature of the case and reading the petition, granted a temporary restraining order against the United States Express Company and Eleanore Clubb, in addition to the defendants mentioned in the first Bowen injunction suit.

fendants mentioned in the first Bowen injunction suit.

The next move was to have the papers served. The package containing the 132 shares of Wiggins stock was expected on an early morning train. Service was deemed necessary at once. The residence of Sheriff Joseph Dickmann, No. 1321 St. Ange avenue, was visited. Across the street lives Deputy Sheriff Charles Horan. Both were aroused and by that time day was breaking.

After a brief conference was held the officers proceeded to execute the papers.

M. M. Clark, agent of the United States Express Company, lives at Webster. It was too late to go there in time to catch him before he left home, so it was decided that one of the officers should station himself at the express office at Fourth and St. Charles street and serve him or someone else before any wagons started upon their first morning delivery.

Mr. Clark came in a few minutes after 7 o'clock, and the moment he entered the door of his office the restraining order was thrust into his hands. He acknowledged the service.

Effort to Find Mrs. Clubb.

The Mercantile Trust Company and Wiggins Ferry Company officials, were served at about the same hour, and now the question was to locate Mrs. Eleanore Clubb to place in her hand one of the documents.

Deputy Sheriff A. H. Watson was aspected to the same hour, and he was to be a safety it was re-Deputy Sheriff A. H. Watson was assigned to this duty, but at night it was reported that he had merely been able to establish the fact that Mrs. Clubb was living at the Westmoreland Hotel. The hotel clerk stated that Mrs. Clubb was out, and he didn't know when she would return. Whether the 122 shares of Wiggins stock were actually shipped from Cincinnati is a question that remains unanswered. When Mr. Clark the express agent was swied a question that remains unanswered. When Mr. Clark the express agent, was asked about the matter, he said:

"I can not tell you whether they were or were not shipped through our company. I am not at liberty to discuss the affairs of customers. All I know bout it is the restraining order I received."

Charles H 'urne: p. Juent of the Commonwealth Trust Company, said:

"I know nothing about the matter, and I do not see how they have mixed us up in it."

Breckenridge Jones stated that the court do not see how they have mixed us up in it."

Breckenridge Jones stated that the court proceedings said all that was to be said upon the part of the Mississippi Valley Trust; he had nothing to add. In the absence of Festus J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust, none of the officials would talk about the case.

The injunction is supplementary to the recent suit brought by the Mississippi Valley Trust against Mrs. Mary J. Bowen, the Mercantile Trust, et al., in which it was alleged that the plaintiff had purchased the 132 Wiggins shares from Mrs. Bowen, the had agreed to deliver the stock, and then declined to do so, and was attempting to dispose of them to the Mercantile Trust Company.

In the second petition it was alleged that to dispose of them to the Mercantile Trust Company.

In the second petition it was alleged that Mrs. Bowen and the other defendants to the suit were contriving, with the United States Express Company, the Commonwealth Trust Company and Elearore Clubb, to "secretly and clandestinely secure the possession of said shares and divert them to some source other than the plaintiff."

It was specified that since the restraining order was issued the parties named were endeavoring to have the shares sent through the United States Express Company from Cincinnati to the Commonwealth Trust Company, and by it to be delivered upon the order of Eleanore Clubb.

Judge Spencer's order restrains any of the parties from disposing of the stock. The order was made returnable May 22.

Mayor B. F. Hammet Views Battle.

B. F. Hammet, Mayor of El Paso, Tex., after visiting both the Mississippi Vailey and the Mercantile Trust companies, vesterday, and talking over the Wiggins Ferry fight, said that in his opinion both sides were on the anxious bench, and it will be a hard proposition for the courts to decide which interest shall control the terminal property.

Mr. Hammet's relation to the contending ninal property.

Mr. Hammet's relation to the contending companies is considered unique. He was leantified with the founding of the Anieson-Wade Realty Company, which was afterwards merged into the Mercantile Trust Company, and at one time he was a director in the Mississippi Valley Trust Company. director in the analysis of Company.

said Mr. Hammet, "and I suppose that if Festus J. Wade were in the city he would say the same thing for the Mercantile. In his absence I heard the statement from the other officers. I notice, though, that midnight carriage rides after shares of stock are still in order. It is certainly a great financial battle."

Mr. Hammet says that the final result, no matter which way it goes, will be of benefit to St. Louis. The fight has shown the country that this city has things worth fighting for. "The growth of St. Louis since I left here five years ago has been phenomenal," he added, "and I have no
